

Soramichi Akiyama, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor (JP: 助教), Department of Creative Informatics,
Graduate School of Information Science and Technology, The University of Tokyo

+ Short Bio

I received a Ph.D. from Graduate School of Information Science and Technology, The University of Tokyo in 2015, after obtaining a B.Eng. from Kyoto University in 2010. Since June 2018, I have been an assistant professor at Department of Creative Informatics, The University of Tokyo. Before that, I experienced an internship in Microsoft Research and then worked for National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology (AIST) and Nippon Telegraph and Telephone (NTT) as a researcher. My research interest centers on how to efficiently execute large scale workloads in the AI and HPC fields with as little programmer effort as possible, by leveraging knowledge of operating systems, virtualization techniques, memory systems, and performance analysis.
